$3,000 Donation to The AGS Foundation

Woodbridge, VA, February 28, 2011 — Belvoir Federal Credit Union and AFFN (Armed Forces Financial Network) donated $3,000 to The Andrew Gordon Stevens (AGS) Foundation, an organization that focuses on assisting military families learn, obtain, and train service dogs for those fighting diseases. The local foundation, located in Ft. Belvoir, Virginia, is lead by a mother and father duo trying to raise awareness for the need of service dogs and supporting information for Americans with disabilities.

The foundation originated when their son, Andrew Stevens, who was diagnosed with Lennox Gastaut Syndrome four years ago. Today, Andrew is 12 years old and has the advantage of owning a service dog who aids him and his family with his disease by bringing attention to an adult in the onset of a seizure.

Angelo Stevens, a member of the United States Army, is eager to spread his knowledge of the impact a service dog can make to those fighting a disease. Mr. Stevens states, “(This foundation resembles) taking ‘Never leave a soldier behind’ into the 21st Century.”
