Belvoir Federal Supports the 2011 ACS Shopping Challenge

Woodbridge, VA, March 23, 2011 — Belvoir Federal Credit Union and the Fort Belvoir Army Community Service (ACS) partnered in February and March to support the 2011 ACS Shopping Challenge in recognition of Military Saves. ACS and Belvoir Federal teamed up to give away three cash prizes.

The ACS shopping challenge originated with the goal of having consumers comparatively shop to save money on their groceries. All members of the military community who wanted to participate were challenged to use coupons and shop at the Commissary to compare the price of their groceries.

The three week challenge illustrated how families could save money by forming a budget and use coupons at the Commissary. The participant who kept their receipts and saved the most money was eligible for a cash prize. After saving $279.05 in coupons at the Commissary, Sgt. Windley and his wife won the grand prize of $200.

ACS is a military community that assists with the development, coordination, and delivery services that promote self-reliance, resiliency, and stability to military families. For more information about the local Fort Belvoir Army Community Service, visit www.belvoirmwr.com.
